NFC, e-ID & digital security waves to hit the French Riviera: 3 ICT events announced in Nice city!

Three co-located tech events, NFC World Congress, World e-ID Congress and Chip-to-Cloud Security Forum, will attract 2500 international participants around the contactless applications, the electronic identity projects and the security issues of the "networked society". This "smart week" will be taking place in the Acropolis Convention Center of Nice from September 17 to 21, 2012.

Nice, December 16th, 2011 – A large tech gathering is announced in Nice, the "digital city" at the heart of the French Riviera. NFC World Congress, World e-ID Congress and Chip-to-Cloud Security Forum will take place the same week and in the same venue, from September 17 to 21, 2012, in the Acropolis Convention Center of Nice.

These 3 complementary global events are expected to attract 1500 professional delegates from 75 countries. In collaboration with the World Bank, several emerging countries' delegations will attend, such as Kenya, Morocco, Nigeria, Philippines, Rwanda, Tanzania, Vietnam... 2500 visitors are expected at the joint exhibition that will host 75 exhibitors and 150 innovating demos.

This set of three global ICT events forms a "smart week" during which most promising digital technologies will be presented, discussed, showcased, outlined, anticipated... at both business and technology levels: the market of contactless applications at NFC World Congress, the spreading of electronic identity projects for governments, business and healthcare at World e-ID Congress and the security issues of the "networked society" we live in will be discussed at the technical Chip-to-Cloud Security Forum.

Parallel to the conferences, World e-ID Congress and NFC World Congress will share a common exhibition space to add the dynamism of the digital identity to that of NFC and contactless market. Both congresses address citizens, customers and businesses to facilitate access, interactions and transactions.

Several parallel events are in preparation to enhance each events experiences ranging from live experience of NFC or e-ID technologies on-site and downtown to summer school and technical workshops.
